

Live Project Training

Live project is the phase when you finally implement most of the things that you have learnt during your software training. What's taught in the theory classes of IT training may not be methodically followed during the live projects. You need to deliver output to your clients of PHP / MySQL, .NET or any other technology in a faster and smarter way with accuracy. So, you have to learn tricks to produce bulk output on time maintaining the right design quality or coding standard. That is the significance of live training.

We METRO MENTORS believe in the same. You will be given idea about how clients look at various projects and how to make an application or design the way a client wants it.

Additionally, students will be taught basics of project management, project planning and project execution such that they can understand every developer and designer's role in completing a live project. Our project manager will support each time to student offline as well as online. Apart from this, these services are imparted using the advanced technology in such a way to provide utmost efficiency, reliability and promptness. These services are rendered in complete conformity with the international quality standard.

Live Project Training gives you below advantages:

- Industry Readiness
- Hands on Experience on Real Time Projects
- Exposure to SDLS (Software Development Life Cycle)
- Exposure to Industry Trends
- Increase Chances to Get Job
